

Left-Hand Guitar Skills

In playing the guitar, the left hand is used to press on the strings to make a variety of notes/chords. A chord is a combination of notes created by plucking multiple strings simultaneously, hence combining the notes they produce in a single sound.

For beginners, place the guitar on your lap so you can see the fretboard and the strings from a semi-top view, then use the built-in app I made to learn these 14 common chords
